4-2015

Leveraging Expertise to Meet Research Data Management Needs

Allegra Swift
Claremont University Consortium

Leveraging Expertise

To meet research data management needs

ARCS – April 26-28, 2015

@allegraswift
Natalie Tagge
@anavangulick
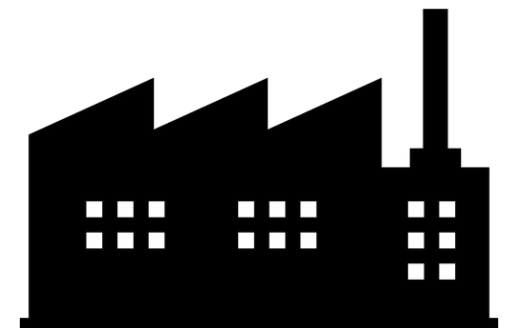

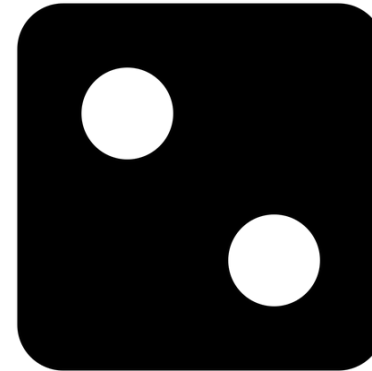

Who?

1. high research doctoral & master's granting university

2. low research doctoral &/or master's granting university

3. baccalaureate granting only college

4. associate's granting college

5. special focus institution (such as law or art, music and design, or business and management)

6. other

Created by Stephen Borengasser from the Noun Project
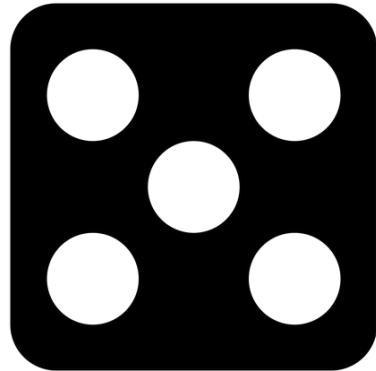

7 - The Claremont Colleges

A consortium of small liberal arts colleges and universities

1 - library &
1 - scholcomm librarian

Created by Dream Icons from the Noun Project

Created by useiconic.com
from the Noun Project

Created by useiconic.com
from the Noun Project

The requests

Data Management Plans and data storage

What?

Level 1: DMP consultation

Level 2: training resource's for best practices for planning, managing during research, sharing storage, data ownership and copyright
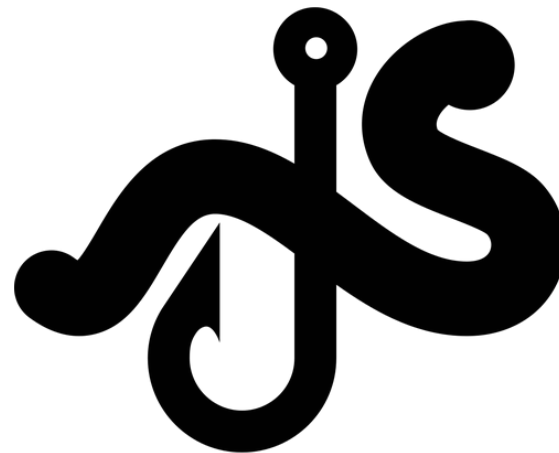

Level 3: offer tools for planning management

Level 4: offer repository services for storage and/or data curation

Some other configuration

Created by Annie Lin
from the Noun Project

What's the hook?

Created by Stephen Hemenway
from the Noun Project

1+ subject specialists = doable

Research Data Management Working Group with ~~three~~ two initial pilots

Pilot 1

Created by Simon Child
from the Noun Project

Pilot 2

Created by Pavel Nikandrov from the Noun Project

Formalizing partnerships

- Realignment to RTLS

- Library's strategic plan

- Division goals

- Model for partnering around other scholarly communications issues

Created by Krisada
from the Noun Project