I am a math professor
I tell this to my friend
Their face turns white
They stare in fright
Alas, our conversation ends

I am a math professor
I teach and teach some more
Students learn and rarely cry
Semesters end, they say goodbye
Now, grading forevermore

I am a math professor
And rarely do I lecture
Students rejoice
They explore with choice
Then, we construct a conjecture

I am a math professor
I love my subject so
To some that's weird
To me its dear
Thus, these solutions make me glow

I am a math professor
I study interesting worlds
If they only knew
Number crunching isn't what I do
For me, mathematical mystery unfurls
